Batavia City Manager Jason Molino Appointed to NYCOM Executive Committee

Jason R. Molino, City Manager of the City of Batavia, has been appointed to a one-year term on the sixteen-member Executive Committee of the New York State Conference of Mayors and Municipal Officials. Mayor Richard Milne of the Village of Honeoye Falls, President of the Conference of Mayors, made the selection. Mr. Molino will represent NYCOM's affiliate organizations and is the only member of the Committee who is not a mayor.

In announcing the appointment, Mayor Milne stated, "Jason Molino is a recognized leader and innovator in the field of local government administration, and NYCOM will clearly benefit from his energy and ideas."

Jason Molino was the recipient of the 2014 Local Government Excellence Award for Strategic Leadership and Governance from the International City and County Management Association. Prior to coming to Batavia, he served as the Assistant to the Village Manager for the Village of Port Chester. He also spent seven years in the Coast Guard Reserve where he earned the rank of Boatswain's Mate Second Class. Mr. Molino has his Bachelor's degree in Political Science from Norwich University and went on to earn his Master's degree in Public Administration from Rockefeller College of Public Affairs.

The Conference of Mayors is the statewide association representing New York's cities and villages. Since 1910, NYCOM has united local government officials in an active network of legislative advocacy, technical assistance and municipal training.
