

Save Energy, Save Dollars

Free Home Energy Workshop
open to all members of the public!

Monday, December 19
3 pm- 4 pm
Community Room, Batavia City Centre
Cost: FREE!*

If you are interested in attending, please contact
Brandie Schultz by December 16 at 585-343-3040 x101.
Registration requested to help us plan for materials.

Save Energy Save Dollars is a workshop that was developed by Cornell University Cooperative Extension and the New York State Energy Research Development Authority (NYSERDA). The workshop, part of the NYSERDA Empower Project, is free and open to all members of the public. This workshop runs approximately 1 hour and focuses on how both renters and homeowners can reduce energy bills via low-cost, no cost energy conservation methods.

Participants of this workshop will also learn:

- What the biggest energy users in their home are
- How to improve your home's comfort (health and safety too)
- Find out about financial assistance (grants, loans, on-bill financing, etc.) and how to get started on your home energy upgrades

Workshop participants will leave with their own individualized Action Plan plus 2 energy-saving light bulbs.

Presented by Charles Malone,
Cornell Cooperative Extension Genesee County

Cornell University
Cooperative Extension
Genesee County

Cornell Cooperative Extension of Genesee County provides equal program and employment opportunities.